

FALMOUTH READY MIX, INC.

We Were Honored To Be Part Of This Library Project

In 1978 - Falmouth Ready Mix, a local producer, supplied the concrete for the east wing of the Falmouth Public Library. On this cold April day, concrete mixers line up to begin pouring the huge footings that will support the walls of the east wing addition. Concrete technology, placement and the industry as a whole have gone through many changes since then.

In 2007 - Nearly thirty years later, Falmouth Ready Mix, a family owned company was once again proud to meet the concrete needs of our community and to be involved in supplying the concrete for the renovation project. Today, a state of the art computerized batch plant produces consistent high quality concrete along with many specialty and high performance mixes, some of which were specified and used on this renovation project. A modern fleet of front discharge all-wheel drive mixers along with a 32 meter concrete pump truck assure safe and efficient placement of concrete on the job site. Hard work, dedication to quality and superior customer service that built this company is still carried on today.
